

Kelley School of Business, Indiana University. Assistant/Associate Professor positions (Operations and Decision Technologies, Analytics)

The Operations and Decision Technologies Department of the Kelley School of Business invites applicants for tenured/tenure-track positions with research and teaching interests in business analytics to begin fall 2021. We welcome candidates whose work will help us advance the School's diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives and programs. The likely teaching responsibilities involve business analytics, data analysis and quantitative methods. Teaching requirements may include undergraduate, masters, and doctoral level classes.

Basic Qualifications: A doctoral degree (or near completion in the case of the Assistant rank) and strong records (in the case of the Associate rank) in both research and teaching are required.

Department Contact for Questions: Rachel Brummett, Department of Operations and Decision Technologies, Kelley School of Business, 1309 East 10th Street, HH4100, Bloomington, IN 47405 or odt@indiana.edu.

For Best Consideration Date: 12/13/2020

Expected Start Date: 08/01/2021
