

Assistant/Associate Professor of Operations Management at IESE - 2022/2023

IESE Business School invites applications for tenure-track faculty positions in the Operations, Information and Technology department, at the assistant or (untenured) associate levels, starting in September 2023. We are seeking candidates with a PhD in Operations Management or a related area, who are committed to excellence in research and teaching. The candidates are expected to develop a rigorous and relevant research career, with publications in leading academic journals. They must also be able to teach at the MBA level and in executive education programs.

IESE is a top-rated international graduate business school with its main campuses in Barcelona and Madrid. It offers a two-year MBA program and a number of executive programs, both at the national and international levels, as well as a PhD program. The school has been consistently ranked among the top schools internationally, including #1 MBA in the World by the Economist in 2021, and #1 in the world for Executive Education by the Financial Times for six consecutive years (2015 to 2020). The school has additional campuses in New York, Munich, and Sao Paulo, and offers the opportunity to teach in many different countries.

IESE has a tenure system similar to the top schools in the US and salaries are competitive. In addition, the school offers excellent family policies and fringe benefits. More information about the school can be found at <https://www.iese.edu>.

Applicants should send a research statement, a teaching statement, a curriculum vitae, copies of selected publications, three letters of recommendation, and a cover letter. All materials should be sent by October 1st, 2022. Members of IESE faculty will be attending the INFORMS Annual Meeting. Candidates attending the conference are strongly encouraged to mention their attendance in their cover letter and include their presentation schedule. The department will be conducting interviews both during INFORMS and online.

To apply, submit your materials through <http://apply.interfolio.com/112856>.
