The Department of Decision Sciences and Managerial Economics comprises three research areas: Business Economics, Management Information Systems and Operations Management. The Department now invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in the area of Operations Management commencing Fall 2021. Applicants for all professoriate ranks will be considered.

Applicants should have (i) a PhD degree in Operations Management or related disciplines (by the time of reporting for duty); (ii) high competence in research and demonstrated research interest in, but not limited to, business analytics, supply chain management, service operations and (iii) strong commitment to teaching and services. The appointee will teach undergraduate, MBA and other postgraduate courses offered by the Department in the areas of operations management, business analytics, and decision models. Appointment will normally be made on contract basis for up to three years, which, subject to performance and mutual agreement, may lead to longer-term appointment or substantiation later. Senior applicants should have an outstanding track record of research and teaching accomplishments.

The application should include a letter of interest, full resume, a publication list, recent teaching-related information such as teaching evaluations and names and e-mail addresses of at least three referees to whom the applicant's consent has been given for their providing reference. Applications may be made online via the CUHK career site, via e-mail (dse@cuhk.edu.hk), or sent to Chairman, Department of Decision Sciences and Managerial Economics, Room 901, Cheng Yu Tung Building, The Chinese University of Hong Kong, Shatin, Hong Kong.

First-round interviews will be arranged online during or right after the INFORMS Annual Meeting (Virtual 2020). Interested candidates are advised to submit the application by October 23, 2020 with information of their presentations at INFORMS, if any.
