

POMS

POMS 2023: EMERGING SCHOLARS PROGRAM (Participation in This Session is by Invitation/application Only) Tuesday, May 23, 2023, 7-11:15am

The Program: Production and Operations Management Society is committed to supporting early-career scholars in Operations Management (OM). The society has thus commissioned this special session of the conference. The program's goal is to create a platform for early-career OM scholars to meet senior OM scholars and seek career building advice. The program consists of moderated discussions on academic career building in OM.

The number of seats for the program is limited. To be eligible, you must be a tenure-track faculty member, register for the conference, and commit to attend the program.

To apply for the 2023 Emerging Scholars Program, please complete this form by March 31, 2023: <https://forms.office.com/r/aEezkgeQcw>.

Approved participants will be notified by April 15th. If you have questions, please email the POMS 2023 Emerging Scholars Program Co-Chair, Benny Mantin, at director.lcl@uni.lu.

Timetable:

7:00-7:45 Registration, breakfast and introduction

7:45-8:45 Panel 1: Teaching. How to incorporate research into teaching? What is the future of higher educations—MOOCS, online, and/or remote?

8:45-9:30 Panel 2: Service and outreach. Reaching out to the wider society. How to make your research valued by other audiences.

9:30-9:45 coffee break

9:45-10:45 Panel 3: Research. Excelling in a highly competitive world. Approaching industry and making your research more relevant.

10:45-11:15 Wrap up and general Q&A

Facilitators:

- Rohit Verma, Cornell & Vin University
- Benny Mantin, University of Luxembourg

Panelists:

- Bo van Der Rhee, Nyenrode Business university
- Mike Dixon, Utah State University
- Cheryl Druehl, George Mason University
- Joy Field, Boston College
- Nagesh Murthy, University of Oregon
- Rachna Shah, University of Minnesota
- Vera Tilson, University of Rochester
- Don Wardell, University of Utah
- Xiande Zhou, China Europe International Business School