

INFORMS Doctoral Student Colloquium

Doctoral Student Colloquium
New Faculty Colloquium
Teaching Effectiveness Colloquium

Who Should Attend?

The Doctoral Student Colloquium is intended for doctoral students who need guidance choosing their future path. The colloquium suits the needs of doctoral students who are deciding between a career as an academic or a practitioner. It will include sessions dedicated to examining both career options and comparing/choosing between the two. It also addresses topics like navigating the job hunt, dealing with work-life balance issues, and suggestions concerning job market preparation and positioning.

2022 Doctoral Student Colloquium Co-Chairs

Doctoral Student Colloquium Agenda

Career Paths in OR

Grisselle Centeno, Xiuli Chao, Garrett van Ryzin

Academic Choice Panel: Business vs. Engineering

Saif Benjaafar, Mark Daskin, Michael Galbreth

Industry Job Search Process

Anshul Agarwal, Ash Omidvar, Shreyas Subramanian

Breakout discussion:

"What are the factors that will determine your career choice?" or "What questions do you have about the academic or industry search?"

Preparing for an Academic Career

Omar Besbes, Annabelle Feng, Adam Mersereau

Preparing for a Non-academic Career

David Hunt, Rainer Dronzek, David Hunter

Publishing Academic Research

John Birge, Mark Ferguson, Georgia Perakis

Dayana Cope
Delta Airlines

Dan Zhang
University of Colorado

2022 Combined Colloquia Sponsors

Northwestern | McCORMICK SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING
Industrial Engineering and Management Sciences

Bucknell
UNIVERSITY

Freeman
College of Management